STATEMENT OF POLICY

The Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Mortgage Bankers Association reaffirms the policies enunciated in the Association's Canons of Ethics and Standards of Business Practice. It also adopts the following interpretation of those same Canons and Standards:

Canons 2 and 7 address the issue of discrimination in mortgage lending. Such discrimination relates to race, color, religion, national origin, sex, marital status, age, and other characteristics addressed by equal credit opportunity laws. The Board of the Association views discrimination as not only a violation of law but also a breach of ethical and moral standards as well.

Accordingly, the Board believes that Canons 2 and 7, taken together, mandate against discrimination in any facet of the mortgage lending process. This includes the underwriting and disposition of any mortgage loan on a basis that is prohibited under equal credit opportunity laws. It also includes the issuance or reliance on a property appraisal, which is based on the racial, ethnic or similar characteristics of the neighborhood in which the property is located or anything other than objective factors affecting market value. It further includes the responsiveness to inquiries and general handling of information and application requests from all applicants.

A number of the Canons deal, of course, with integrity. The Board agrees that the issue of integrity is of paramount importance to the mortgage lending industry, in both how the public perceives it, and how relationships are managed within the industry. Canons 3, 4, 5, and 8 address issues of integrity when dealing with loan applicants or customers. They are viewed by the Board as being broad in scope and clear in intent. They prohibit practices such as taking applications under false pretenses, failing to honor commitments whether oral or written, and generally not performing as represented.

Canons 3, 4, 5, and 10 address the issue of integrity as it relates to how relationships within the industry are handled. This includes, but is not limited to, relationships between loan seller and investor, underwriter and appraiser, underwriter and originator, and servicer and investor. The Board believes that no segment of the mortgage industry acts in isolation, that each segment of the industry is dependent upon the honesty and good faith of other segments, and that the success of the industry and its service to the public are wholly dependent on maintaining integrity and confidence among industry participants.
